

Dr. Michael R. Gabel is an Associate Professor of Mathematics and Integrative Studies in George Mason University's New Century College. He received a BS in Mathematics from MIT and a Ph.D. in Mathematics from Brandeis.

Professor Gabel helped create GMU's interdisciplinary "Plan for Alternative General Education Program," has been Senior Associate Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, Chair of the CAS Committee on Innovative Education, Chair of the University-wide Academic Computing Advisory Committee, Chair of the Faculty Senate Standing Committee on Effective Teaching, Co-Chair of the President's Project Team on Learning Initiatives, and Director of the University's Instructional Development Office. He has given numerous lectures and presentations on Mathematics, General Education, and the Applications of Technology to Teaching. He is a recipient of a Teaching Excellence Award and the David J. King Faculty Teaching Award for "significant, long-term contributions to the overall educational excellence of the university."